Rural & Community Medical Educators Conference

Friday, September 25, 8:00 am - 1:00 pm

This year's Operation Rural has been changed into an online Zoom platform which presents us with an opportunity to interact virtually with a community of rural health professionals at the Rural and Community Medical Educators Conference.

A professional development conference for those involved in training residents and medical students in rural and community settings.

Who should attend:

Physicians, Psychiatrists, Pharmacists, NPs, PAs, residents, and administrators who are involved with training residents or medical students in rural and community settings.

*Scholarships are available for medical students and residents interested in attending. Contact Tania Anderson at tanderson@rwhc.com to learn more.

Cost to attend:
$59 per person

We are requesting up to 4.0 hours of CME credit for the proposed online version of the Rural and Community Medical Educators Conference.

(Application for CME credit has been filed (ith the American Academy of Family Physicians. Determination of credit is pending. A AEP Prescribed credit is accepted by the American Medical Association
